BERLIN, Aug. 29.—The crucial moment in Europe's crisis came tonight when Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler summoned British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson to the chancellery and handed over his written reply to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's proposals for settlement.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—The prospects of immediate war in Europe faded today as Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler carefully pondered Great Britain's answer to his settlement proposals with the aim of drafting his own rejoinder in such a manner that the road to peaceful solution remains wide open.

The above information was gathered by this correspondent from most reliable quarters. It can be definitely stated at the present moment that a "way out" is now accepted as a possible alternative to war. But a means of settling the issue at stake has not yet been found, with Hitler insisting that Britain and France must discover a way of cutting the Gordian knot.

Note Is Studied

With Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, the fuehrer lengthily studied all implications of the note handed in at the chancellery late last night by British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson.

He also summoned a number of legal experts and consulted his military leaders throughout the day. It was hoped, however, that Hitler's reply would be ready by nightfall. The note was handed in at the chancellery late last night by British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson.

Defense Mobilization Continues In Poland

(International News Service)

WARSAW, Aug. 29.—Polish-German tension reached a new peak today when seven persons were killed in a bomb explosion on the railroad at Tarnow.

The blast partially destroyed the Tarnow station at an important junction on the line into German-controlled Slovakia.

Authorities said one German and one German-born Pole were arrested.

Continuing its mobilization and civilian defense measures, Poland announced that not one inch of her territory would be given up, while the press maintained its series of accounts of border incidents.

German troops in the Silesia district undermined railroad bridges from Poland into East Prussia, was one charge.

Gas Masks Distributed
Continued distribution of gas masks in Danzig has thrown the free city's populace into a panic, according to Warsaw reports. Ration cards will be introduced tomorrow, it was asserted. Many members of the anti-Nazi Danzig opposition were said to be fleeing into Poland.

Washington Tension Over European Crisis Somewhat Decreased

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Official Washington dropped through reams of European propaganda and censured news today in an effort to approximate the imminence of war or peace.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon, President Roosevelt, primed with latest diplomatic dispatches, will hold a press conference and officially announce more this government's views on the extremely grave crisis.

Temporary Palliative?

On the basis of several overnight cables from the trouble zone, there was a growing disposition on the part of ranking officials to predict that a temporary palliative might be administered to the "war of nerves."

Those in closest contact with the foreign crisis were much more hopeful of immediate peace today than they were 24 hours ago. No responsible official offered a definite forecast, however. They merely added up last-minute information from London, Moscow, Berlin, Paris, Warsaw and Tokyo to give themselves qualified hope that the armed millions of Germany, Poland, France and England would not clash for the time being.

Delay In Pact Approval

Word that the British government had delivered the strongest kind of a negative answer to German fustian, while Moscow was letting reports leak out there would be a "delay" in ratification of the

French General May Make Secret Visit To Warsaw

PREMIER DALADIER
HAS CONFERENCE

Rumor King Leopold May Be Mediator Between
Poland And Germany

By KENNETH T. DOWNS

PARIS, Aug. 29.—Premier Edouard Daladier today summoned his military chiefs to a series of important conferences which led to reports in the Paris press of early developments in Europe's crisis.

Among them were General Marie Gustave Gamelin, chief of staff, and General Maxim Weygand, the World War hero who served as head of a French military mission to Poland in the winter of 1920.

Weygand, who is generally considered France's greatest military strategist, also called upon President Lebrun. The Paris Midi hinted that Weygand was soon to depart on an "important mission" and at the same time rumors of some new negotiation, with King Leopold of Belgium proposed as mediator, flooded the French capital.

Destination Warsaw

The Paris Midi clearly hinted that Weygand's destination would be Warsaw. Many possibilities were thereby suggested. He is immensely popular with the Poles, and would be an excellent choice as an emissary able to discuss possible negotiations with Poland while still, as a military man, emphasizing France's firm determination to aid that nation if attacked.

On several occasions within the last few days, Weygand, sometimes called the "savior of Poland" for his resistance to bolshevism as chief of the military mission to Warsaw in 1920, has held lengthy consultations with Daladier.

Of equal importance were the repeated rumors of some direct negotiations between Poland and Germany through the medium of King Leopold. In this connection, observers were interested in a call upon Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet.

Return Of German Liner Is Delayed

Liner Bremen Held Some Hours

New Inspection Ruling Of U. S. Treasury Department Cause

NO PASSENGERS WILL BE CARRIED

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—To the surprise and consternation of German officials, an unexpected ruling from the U. S. treasury department at Washington held the huge North German Lloyd liner Bremen in New York port today hours after the time she was to have departed for Germany carrying only her crew.

Ordinarily, the granting of clearance papers is a formality quickly dispensed with. But the Bremen was denied the necessary order for departure until treasury department inspectors can board the ship this morning and make a detailed inspection.

The Bremen arrived in New York late yesterday afternoon, quickly discharged its 1669 passengers and a cargo of 200 tons, and made immediate preparations to return to Germany. The ship was to have departed for Germany late yesterday afternoon, quickly discharged its 1669 passengers and a cargo of 200 tons, and made immediate preparations to return to Germany.

Delay Develops

But when German officials went to the custom house yesterday evening for the clearance papers they were informed that because of the delay in the inspection of the ship, the papers could not be granted.

"We were told that a new ruling had been made in Washington apparently affecting only the ships of our company," said Capt. William Drechsel, North German Lloyd marine superintendent.

The German officials were informed that the Bremen could not leave port until Harry M. Durning, collector of the port, was satisfied that all her papers were in order, that all United States rulings were complied with and that no American laws had been broken.

Previously, two other German liners, the St. Louis and the New York, had suddenly pulled anchor and departed without passengers for the Fatherland, apparently in compliance with radioed orders from Germany.

HITLER PONDER'S BRITAIN'S REPLY TO HIS DEMANDS

reply will be ready to transmit to London through Henderson by nightfall.

Responsible quarters indicated that some further communication from London would be expected in reply to Hitler's own answer, in which, it was declared, he is closing no doors, is not actually pushing them wider open.

Mussolini's Accord Seen

In view of the exchange of letters and telephone consultations between Hitler and Mussolini in the last few days and again today, it can be taken for granted that the Führer's reply to England will be sent with it.

Every word. Meanwhile, the tension in Berlin slackened noticeably, although the delicacy of the situation generally cannot be exaggerated. It is expected sooner or later that Hitler will lay his case before the Reichstag.

Among the rumors flooding the Nazi capital was one report that "a high foreign personality" is being taken to Berlin. Such a visitor might be Premier Molotov of Soviet Russia or President Ignace Moscicki of Poland.

But there was nothing upon which to base speculation but unconfirmed rumors.

Uncertainty In Outcome

Whether Hitler eventually will accept anything less "in principle" than Danzig and the corridor remains to be seen. But the feeling in the air was that there would be some sort of get-together among Europe's leading statesmen within the next few days to climax recent feverish diplomatic activity.

Among the speculative angles was that Britain had proposed a truce to cover a "period of negotiation with Warsaw" with the view of establishing an arbitration commission to liquidate the Danzig and corridor problems within a fixed period.

It was also reported that Britain had offered to place wider European issues on the table for formulation of a "European and African peace map." This, however, could not be confirmed.

Appeal Is Made

Germany's officially-inspired press came out into the open today with an appeal to Great Britain and France to compel Poland to surrender her corridor to the sea.

Optimism was obvious in diplomatic circles following the meeting between Chancellor Hitler and Sir Neville Henderson, the British ambassador, who spoke back to Germany yesterday after three sessions with the British cabinet.

Initial impressions in informed German quarters today were that Sir Neville's message was favorable so far as Germany is concerned. Peace, it was felt, is saved provided the British proposals for a settlement leave the door open to negotiations.

Certainly, fighting has been staved off for a time, for it is stated on reliable authority that Chancellor Hitler will send a written reply to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.

again in bloom. He believes the dry weather has had something to do with this.

Pa Newc saw a driver doing some fancy driving all around another car on North Jefferson street the other day. And was that driver's face red when he suddenly discovered the occupant of the other car was a state patrolman.

Pa Newc always slows down when he sees eyes shining along the edge of a road at night. The eyes might be those of a dog or a cat, but then again—they might be those of an animal Pa Newc wouldn't care to meet at night.

Pa Newc overheard some of his colleagues talking about the corn being cut and shocked already. If this is true, pumpkins are ripening and perhaps it would be a good idea for President Roosevelt to move Halloween up a bit. Otherwise, there might not be any pumpkin faces in the windows for that holiday.

It may be well to call the attention of motorists to an amendment to an act of Assembly which becomes effective on September 1. This amendment relates to passing cars on the road, and changes the 300 feet clear sight, to 500 feet.

In other words, after September 1, you must be certain that you have at least 500 feet of clear driving space before you start to pass a car ahead of you. This is a wise provision, as many accidents occur in passing, especially when an oncoming car makes it necessary to "cut in" quickly ahead of the car you are passing.

One reason why our taxes are mounting is that the largest holder of real estate in the country, Uncle Sam, is exempt from realty taxes. It is claimed that the land now owned by the government makes up about one-fifth of the total land area of the nation. And on this vast stretch of developed or undeveloped land, not a penny of tax is paid. This increasing ownership of land by the government, means a corresponding shrinkage in tax-yielding properties held in private ownership. This squeezes local budgets, for city and county authorities must furnish protection to government owned properties the same as any other.

Sunshine has been nice for reunions and the county fair, but farmers say that it has not been so good for the corn, especially fields that were planted late. Dry weather has caused the stalks to wilt and the ears are not filling out well. Corn that was planted early had already eared before the recent dry spell began. Late potatoes have also been suffering from lack of rain.

"O dear, dear," moaned a North Hill woman, as she heard the coal rolling down a chute into the cellar. "We'll soon have to be stoking the furnace." "Don't worry," replied her optimistic husband, "you don't have to handle it all at once, like the coal man does. All we do is put a little in the furnace every day. That's pretty good philosophy. The happiest people are those who live their lives from day to day. Nothing is gained by adding the worries of the future to the present."

Former West Pittsburg residents who returned this week to take part in home-coming day, found the town pretty much as they had left it, but with two notable exceptions. While they noted with pleasure the acquisition of the big Pennsylvania Power Company plant, they regretted the passing of the old hotel. The hotel was the pride of the town in its halcyon days. Maybe the town will stage a comeback, and another hotel will be built. Stranger things have happened.

It's sad news we get from Erie. A New Castle couple who spent Sunday at the lake report that the Wolvenine, one of the old ships of Commodore Perry's fleet, is being allowed to go to rack and ruin. Most New Castle people who have visited Erie's summer resort have seen this ship, the iron for which was hauled by ox cart from Pittsburg. One would think that the park commission would take steps to preserve it. It's a relic of rare historical value. Why it's forsaken in its old age is a mystery.

Robert Renwick Braham. Robert Renwick Braham, highly regarded citizen of New Wilmington, passed away in his home Monday at 5:45 p. m., at the age of 78 years. He had been seriously ill since the first of August, with a heart condition and complications, and had been in the Jameson Memorial hospital for a part of the time.

Mr. Braham was born in Harrisville, Pa., on November 27, 1860, son of Hugh and Anna Mifflin Braham. Both his parents were of old Pennsylvania families, early settlers in this part of the state. The Brahams settled in Lawrence county in 1807.

Robert Renwick Braham married Miss Olive Wilkin of Volant on May 19, 1891. The couple lived in New Wilmington since 1911 and for 30 years Mr. Braham was employed in the land department of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, retiring five years ago. In addition to his work with the company, he operated a small farm at New Wilmington.

He was interested principally in his church, family and community, and he won through the fine example he set, the deepest respect from family, neighbors and friends. He was a member of the United Presbyterian church and had served the church as an elder, in various congregations, for 40 years. At the time of his death he was an elder in the New Wilmington church. He was a Prohibitionist for years until the Amendment was successfully passed, and had worked diligently in the cause.

Mr. Braham's oldest son was Hall Braham, the first man from Lawrence county to lose his life in the World War. Surviving are: his wife, Olive Wilkin Braham, two sons, W. CAPITOLA-McCANN WEDDING IN CHURCH

As the bells of St. Mary's church chimed this morning at 9:30 o'clock, a pretty wedding of the late summer season took place, the principals being Miss Helen G. Capitola, daughter of Mrs. Peter P. Capitola of East Leasure avenue, and Philip D. McCann, of Northview avenue, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. McCann.

Nuptial high mass was celebrated, with the Rev. Fr. William F. Galvin, officiating, in the presence of several hundred guests of the young couple.

The church altar was beautifully decorated for the occasion the chancel being hidden with palms and ferns. The white theme predominated in the arrangement, and lighted Cathedral candles in branching candelabrum completed the setting.

For her wedding, the bride was lovely in a white shadow lace gown, patterned with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice, short puff sleeves, made toe length. Her lace mitts matched and her veil of tulle and lace fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book, marked with a dainty corsage of gardenias and valley lilies. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom.

William McCann, brother of the groom was best man and ushering were John and Edward Capitola, brothers of the bride. Others included: Mothers Robert Capitola, brother of the bride, and Martin McCann, nephew of the groom, who served as altar boys.

Preceding and during the ceremony, Frank Gribben, church organist, contributed a program of appropriate organ selections.

Miss Cecelia Dougherty, aunt of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a pink net gown with tulle inserts, made toe length, and lace mitts. She had adorning her hair, pink roses and blue larkspur, which also matched her arm bouquet. As bridesmaid, Miss Mary Capitola sister of the bride appeared in a blue lace creation with matching lace mitts and she carried an arm cluster of pink roses and mixed summer flowers. Blossoms of the same were also pinned in her hair.

Mrs. Capitola was attired in a blue flowered dress with a shoulder corsage of gardenias for her daughter's wedding.

Immediately following the congratulatory period, a wedding breakfast was served at the Capitola home for members of the immediate families. Covers were laid for twenty-five and the nuptial theme was featured, tones of pink and white prevailing throughout.

Late this afternoon, the couple departed on a Southern trip, and after September 10, will be "at home" to friends at 138 East Leasure avenue. For traveling, the bride chose a poudre blue ensemble with navy accompaniments.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McCann are graduates of the New Castle High school. She is affiliated in the offices of the Johnson Bronze Company, and he is connected with P. and L. E. railroad, as yard clerk.

Guests from out of town, attended from Sharon and Conneaut O.

STALIN AT SAME OLD GAME?

IT IS too early at this date to estimate the effects of the proposed non-aggression pact between Russia and Germany announced at a time when the Soviets were negotiating an alliance between themselves, France and England. The general opinion is that the wily and unscrupulous Stalin is still engaged in the sport of playing off one side against the other.

There are loud cries from the "democracies" that Stalin has betrayed them. They might have expected it. The bolsheviks walked out on the allies in 1917. They may, even at this late date, walk out on Hitler before the year is out. Russian communists want to stay out of a war between England, France and Germany in the hope that the combatants will exhaust themselves and that the reds can walk in and pick up the pieces. Perhaps they will do so.

In the meantime it may be said that latest developments emphasize the hollowness of some European ideals. For years Hitler has been out to save the world against communism and Stalin has been out to save it against fascism. Now the two camps get together. And the democracies, so-called, wring their hands because the Russians double crossed them. What else could they expect?

SAFETY EDUCATION PAYS DIVIDENDS

Youth has been charged with going to the dogs and other places, but nevertheless America's young people progressed more carefully during 1938 than their elders.

That is the report of the National Safety Council, which in its new statistical book, Accident Facts, states that young men and women led all others in last year's general decline of accident deaths.

Fatalities in this age group, from 15 to 24 years, were 18 per cent fewer in 1938 than 1937, while among persons over 25 years of age the drop was only 14 per cent, for children between 5 and 14, the decline was 12 per cent, and among those under 5 the rate fell one per cent.

Safety education has been stressed for a number of years in public schools, and the fact that the generation which has left high schools within the last seven or eight years led in the decline in accidental deaths last year is a convincing indication that the program is saving many lives.

GREAT LEADER IN GENERAL GAGELIN

Upon his return from France a few days ago, General Pershing, who knows a great deal about fighting men, said that the French army is the best in Europe. A similar opinion has been expressed by Mussolini, who is fully aware of the historic fact that on more than one occasion the timely arrival of French reinforcements during the World War saved Italy from military collapse. There is no bragadocio about the French military people. They know their business and are not disturbed by doubts or jitters. In fact, they were calmly confident when the statesmen were gripped by the palsy of fear that preceded Munich.

Naturally, interest in the master of the French war machine grows. What manner of man is he? What is his experience? What reason is there for his presence in a position of almost unparalleled military power, as he will be the commander of all armies allied with France and Britain and even of the navies at sea?

Insofar as the commander of her armies is concerned, France is fortunate. General Marie Gustave Gagaline, a quiet, unassuming, retiring little man, is a great soldier. He was an inspired strategist in the war and a brilliant leader of men. In the development of France's formidable peace-time army he has played a part of inestimable importance. In Gagaline the axis powers will find a formidable adversary, if and when war comes.

AN OLD CAT DIES

Seneca Falls, New York, is an up-and-coming community proud of its 6443 human population, but for several years has focused much of its civic joy on a veteran cat, which has just died at the age of 24 years—something which might be called a death blow to the chamber of commerce and grievous loss to his owner.

Rumor hath it that an Australian cat died two years ago at 27, but the Seneca Falls cat seems to have set an American record for longevity, enduring with typical feline poise the undistinguished generic name of "Tommy," and apparently adding each of his traditional nine lives onto each other end to end. Tommy's annual birthday fetes of late have been real civic celebrations, and no doubt the town will do itself proud in a ceremonial funeral.

Presumably, Tommy had his share of cat fights in his impetuous youth, but a cat like a dog must have its day and its night, then retire. Tommy glides away into the shadows just at a time when his human friends are talking of a major fight of their own, on much the same basic principles of nocturnal back-fence yowling.

Perhaps Tommy declined to hold on for full quarter-century honors in sheer disgust that men did not similarly desist, as he did, long ago from ferocious combat which settles nothing permanently, and rely on sheathed-claw purring and suave diplomacy to attain what they want. Cats live long when they do that.

Life seems false at fifty. You live virtuously and circumspectly, and get up with a darned headache, anyway.

Share-the-wealth Huey Long died at a good time. He would be unhappy if he had lived to see what a piker he was.

Death and taxes are similar. The patriot must submit to both because officials can dish it out without taking it.

Believe it or not, children, but in the old days the manufacturer indicated the simplicity of his product by boasting: "A woman can handle it."

In Alabama, thieves stole 42 bottles of foot lotion from a parked car. The motorist thereupon abandoned the whole idea of taking in a World's Fair.

After years of healthful recreation in which she regained her natural shape, womankind is returning to the wasp waist, and the next thing you know she'll be swooning at a harsh word.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FATHER'S ROLE IN MOTHERING

In the average home the mother does her own work. She cooks the family meals, does the family mending, often the family washing.

The thoughtful father as a whole-some comrade does not hesitate to help her with these chores, particularly when he has ample time from his duties outside the home. None of her work does he count beneath his pride to share.

Also the father learns to care for the child; learns early to change its diaper, guide the toddler in toilet habits, lure it off and put it happily to bed, and to care for any of its special needs at night. To quote from Lorine Pruette, (The Parent and The Happy Child):

"Gone is the day when it was the correct masculine thing for fathers, left alone with their children, to turn helplessly to any woman, expecting her to do for him the chores of formula—preparing, washing, changing clothes, etc."

Not The Father's Fault

"But of course the helplessness of fathers with young children is mostly not their fault. The mother is thrilled and a little frightened, likes to assume a manner of superiority and is also obsessed with responsibility for the child. Her feelings are very natural, but the time will come when she will wish the father had early learned to be more responsible for the child."

And the father who does not share in some of the daily, tedious chores misses that early development of attachment, that deep satisfaction that grows up inevitably in the normal adult who is caring for a small child, touching him, protecting him, making him happy. Many a father is cheated out of his heritage because he tends to shirk a little, because his wife finds it easier to do things herself.

"But the old divisions between the functions of the parents are disappearing in many cases, and there can be little question that the child's own mental health is improved if from the beginning of his life he is accustomed to receiving care from more than one person."

Men Help More At Home

In the words of Dwight Sanderson:

"Recent studies of household work done by men show that city men do rather more housework than farm men, and that they do many things which their fathers would have thought beneath their dignity. Many a man will run an electric vacuum cleaner who would not have been daunted to sweep with a broom."

"It is not infrequent to hear of a father's running the washing machine, although the probably would decline to scrub the clothes on a washboard. If a woman is his equal, there is nothing more belittling to a man helping with her work than for her to help with his."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

TOO MANY CROOKS.

The present power conferred upon employees to bargain collectively with their employers has resulted in something which probably the law makers did not anticipate—or perhaps they did, who knows?

That power, given to labor incited organizers to get busy in this country and it further resulted in two big organizations; namely, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Green to get exceedingly busy. Mr. Lewis, of course, through the Committee on Industrial Organizations and Mr. Green, naturally, through the organization known as the American Federation of Labor. Each organizer, assisted by his various officers, proceeded to obtain as many members as possible for their respective Labor Unions, with the result that in one great manufacturing plant after another there were found members of each organization determined to dominate the collective bargaining process. It has been impossible to determine in many cases which organization was the collective bargaining for the majority of workmen employed. In very few cases has it been found that one of these two great organizations held all the workmen within its membership.

Consequently, this country is today faced with Strike after Strike, labor troubles to the right of you, labor troubles to the left of you, behind you and before you, and there seems to be no solution. I believe if all Strikes were outlawed and when any question arose as to wages, hours and all that sort of thing between employees and employers, there was a Court of Complaint with proper jurisdiction that would hear each side of the question and determine what was right, fair and proper and have authority to compel both sides to abide by its decision. It would at least help solve the question. At present, the Federal Labor Relations Board has seemed to favor one of these organizations, absolutely, and there also seems to be no provision for a proper hearing given to the employers. It is more or less of a one-sided proposition just now and it should not be so.

When you run up against what you consider is an idiotic rule of a transportation company when traveling, don't rave and rant at the people employed. HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:39. Sun rises tomorrow 5:23.

People are careful these days. We got a receipt the other day on which was printed: "This receipt is null and void unless the check draft or other order for payment of money is good and collectible." No doubt many get that kind of stuff that is bum.

Mussolini has a great chance to make a bigger reputation by not being for war than joining or encouraging war. Nobody wants war anywhere. That is the fighters' motto.

After September 1, state police in Pennsylvania will notify owners of bum tires to get off the roads or get new tires. Please pass the new tires!

In some places the opening of the public schools has been postponed on account of infantile paralysis breaking out. The iron lung is a great thing to have around in cases like that.

When it comes right down to the real thing, Memorial Day and Thanksgiving Day should be celebrated on Sunday. Those days were never intended to pull off rough stuff on.

FAMOUS FIGHTING WORDS
Famous step aside, I have to catch a train. Are you sure you had a muffler? Those tables are reserved. The apple pie is all gone. The minimum charge on Saturday nights is $3.50. I must have made a mistake in my addition. How about celery and olives? Please read the guarantee more carefully. I think you can get good tickets from the speculator down the street. Let me see your tickets, please. A mistake has been made. This space is reserved for guests. Due to sudden illness, the star will not appear this evening. Our contract is clear on that point. Will you please spell your name again? We are not responsible for hats and overcoats. Who is this speaking, please? John Jones is in a conference this afternoon and will be away tomorrow. You'll have to see the manager about that. I haven't any change, mister. Your tickets were sold five minutes ago. The only seats left are in the back row. Please move over. The cheapest room left is $8. Your order was delivered to the wrong room. You'll have to see my lawyer. My witnesses will testify quite the contrary. There won't be another train for six hours.

About the only changes some men want to see in kitchens is making a change in the stuff they eat. That's enough change for them in a kitchen.

A Pittsburgh man was fined $5 for furnishing his home without a permit after the fumes had effected several members of a family living in the same building with him. Some birds don't care how much of a stink or smudge they make, even if they should get a permit to make it and don't.

DELIBERATE MALES
Men rave about the time women spend in dressing. "But," inquires a clerk, "did you ever watch a man selecting a magazine at a news stand?"

It used to be "Here comes a collector, pull down the shades!" In the trailer era it's "Step on the gas!"

A female purity crusader visited Franklin and had some people arrested for violating purity laws or customs. She lost the suit and was put in jail because she could not pay the fine. Those traveling crusaders are not often looked well upon even by people who practice purity. Most crusaders can find enough work in their own place—if they have one.

In the old days, the bad little boys liked to go to school in some ways. They could get nearer to the teacher to fire a rock at him.

WRONG HOUSE

"Have you a Robert Louis Stevenson in your home?" asked the book salesman.

"No," answered the housewife. "Or a Charles Dickens?"

"No," answered the housewife. "How about a Walter Scott?"

"No. And another thing, young man, I might as well tell you our name is Jones and we don't take in any lodgers at all. You might ask across the street at the boarding house for those people you mentioned."

In some places the proper authorities are taking interest bearing notes from taxpayers who do not pay. Not a bad idea.

Lots of intense attention is paid to two kinds of bells—the fire bell and the school bell. They make more people run than any kind of bells we know of.

Several days later the neighbor came over.

No Assurance For Roosevelt
May Never Get Neutrality Law
Congressmen Are Not Converted

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—That President Roosevelt ever will get the kind of neutrality legislation he wants is no foregone conclusion.

When congress adjourned, it appeared to be taken for granted by the administration that as soon as the lawmakers reconvened they'd vote the White House the discretion desired by its tenant. Especially was it predicted that Capitol Hill would recognize the desirability of complying with the presidential wish in the event that the European situation developed the tensile it did develop immediately following the conclusion of the Russo-German pact.

However, the senators and representatives who have been heard from thus far in Washington don't predominantly express themselves as having been converted. If anything, they seem more than ever set upon a policy of unqualified American aloofness from overseas trouble.

Senator Gerald P. Nye, the author of the present neutrality rule which allows the White House no option whatever, was the first to authorize an interview, standing absolutely pat on favor of 100 per cent isolation on Uncle Sam's part. In fact, he asserts that the recent trend of events across the ocean proves conclusively how imperative is the kind of law he fathered was needed.

Other isolationists apparently are in agreement with him, to judge from dispatches quoting them, in their various home towns throughout the country.

Dependable pro-administrationists, of course, will support the president, but the last session of congress revealed the unpopularity of the majority party as backers of the executive mansion's recommendations.

It will be a tight squeak anyway.

What About Japan?

While government spokesmen emphatically don't like the Hitler-Stalin dicker on general principles, a few of them very confidentially do voice a modicum of satisfaction at the fix it has left Japan in. There's been no doubt in Washington at any time that the Japs have intended to make China as disagreeable a place for Americans as for the English as soon as they considered the occasion ripe for it. Now with Russia free to deal with them it's foreseen that the islanders will be lucky to maintain any foothold at all in continental Asia.

That Stalin will lend all the aid possible to the Chinese is considered a certainty. In short, military men are mostly of the opinion that the Jap cause on the mainland is as good as lost already. If the mikado couldn't lick Chiang Kral-Shek without the Chinese helping him, what change will he have, critics ask skeptically, to handle a Russo-Chinese combination?

Indeed there are observers who suggest that the Tokyo government may not last much longer.

That is to say if it becomes apparent to everybody in Japan that their mainland forces are definitely beaten, that all their fighting and sacrifices have gone for nothing, won't there be a terrific popular reaction? Inside information is to the effect that there's considerable undercurrent dissatisfaction among the Japs now.

What Next In China?

Some far-seeing commentators are a bit uneasy at the prospect of a formidable Russian entrenchment in China. Having disposed of Japan, if they succeed in doing it, the surmise is that the Soviets immediately will set about communicating all the Chinese. There's a good bit of Communist sentiment among them already.

Pessimists venture the opinion that a Sovietized China might be as bad as having it run by the Japs.

It would be a matter of considerable concern to the United States, too. Most of Russia is rather remote from this country now. A Communist nation right down to the edge of the Pacific, directly opposite our own west coast, would be different.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Superstition among civilized human beings has been pretty well eradicated in the past few centuries. But not so among savage races—and queer things do happen.

My friend Captain Achmet Abdullah, of noble Afghan birth and an author of distinction, once told me this creepy yarn.

The captain was serving in the British Intelligence in Africa. After for information of any abnormal activities among the natives, he heard of one named Mendam who was believed to be a werewolf, and who was suspected of killing children when at night he turned himself from a man into a wolf or a leopard.

Captain Abdullah took the native gossip as merely another sample of native superstition, but sometime later he went to a place where he came suddenly upon a prowling leopard. He fired, but the light was poor and his bullet only wounded the brute in the left hindleg. That was plain to be seen as the bleeding leopard made off on three legs through the dense growth.

A few days later the idea came to Captain Abdullah that the native legend, generally suspected of being the leopard man and evidently a tough citizen, might make a good man for the native force the British were recruiting. So the captain made his way through the jungle to Mendam's hut in a forest clearing. Long before he reached the thatched hut, he knew what he would find within. Mendam was dead—had been for days.

A nurse thought came to the captain as he remembered the leopard at which he had fired. He examined the body. There was a bullet wound in the left hind-leg. An army bullet was deeply imbedded. Captain Abdullah was the only white man in the whole district with a rifle which fired an army bullet.

Steadily the superstition of the Dark and Middle Ages has retreated back into the shadows before the pure, bright light of Science. We don't ask the stars any longer to increase the span of human life. Medicine and Chemistry are doing that, and offers a reasonable hope that the span of life may be stretched to a century or more.

Dr. Malmesford declares that governments could undertake no nobler project than to encourage such research as would aid man in his effort to control the mighty tides of that vast sea upon which we float our little barks—that sea called life.

G. Ward Price, distinguished London journalist of unquestioned accuracy, a tall handsome, monocled Oxonian who has frequently visited in America,

Fox Liberates Bittern In Battle With Snake

While in the vicinity of the old paper mill on Neshannock creek, a few evenings ago, Owen Fox heard strange thumping and thrashing sounds among the underbrush, near the water.

Upon investigation, he saw a bittern, a bird of the smaller heron family, and a large black snake engaged in battle. The snake had succeeded in seizing the bird by one of its wings. Mr. Fox watched the fight for a while, in order to make a study of the actions of the bird and snake.

As he followed the progress of the encounter, he discovered that the snake was gaining the upper hand on the bird, had made a coil around one of the bird's legs and was slowly forcing it to the ground. Having no desire to see the bittern killed, Mr. Fox secured a long branch of willow with a forked end. He pinned the snake to the ground to prevent its coiling. After the lashing tail was put out of commission, he released the wing hold the snake had on the bird with its mouth, then succeeded in getting the bird's legs free from the snake's coil. After the bird found that it had been released, it staggered about for a few moments, very stiff legged, then took off in a low flight, with its left wing somewhat slow in motion. The snake soon disappeared from the scene. It was about five and a half feet long and about three inches in diameter.

Although the blacksnake does take a certain amount of bird life, it is very beneficial, because of the fact that it destroys a large quantity of rodents, which outweighs the wrong he commits on bird life, Mr. Fox says.

During an appeal from an award to a volunteer fireman who was hurt while working in an addition to a fire garage, Judge Cunningham was claimed to have said: "We know what volunteer firemen's organizations are—they are political and social organizations." The firemen's associations, at its annual convention, passed a resolution charging Judge Cunningham with "woeful lack of knowledge."

Flies To England To Report Hitler's Verbal Answers

"Mystery Man" Of British Foreign Office Carries Reports From Henderson

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—Initial reports from British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson on Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's preliminary verbal reply to some points in the British note were flown to London today.

David Boyd, "mystery man" of the British foreign office, who accompanied Henderson on his last trip from London, took off unobtrusively for London at noon carrying the reports.

(Editor's Note: Bearing one English and two German passengers, the plane referred to in the foregoing arrived at Heston Aerodrome near London at 3:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m. E. D. T.)

Boyd also carried Henderson's report on the attitude shown by Hitler in the course of their long conversation last night. This will be more concretely reflected in a written note the Fuehrer is expected to transmit to London.

Meanwhile, the British government should now have a good advance idea of what to expect.

Indicative of the present trend was the fact that German newspapers and agencies and the radio considerably toned down the atrocious campaign against Poland, although they were obviously all set to resume it at a moment's notice if necessary.

Resident Of County Home Dies In Fall

Joseph Bojanich Jumps To Death From Bathroom Window Of Hospital Ward

Joseph Bojanich, aged 57, a resident of the county home, formerly of 1215 Scioto street, died at the county home at 6:15 Monday evening, after jumping from a third-floor window. It was found that he had suffered a fractured skull.

According to Mrs. Perry Snyder, wife of the superintendent of the home, Mr. Bojanich removed a screen from the window of a bathroom in the hospital ward in the front part of the building and jumped out. He was found immediately after his leap and carried inside the building, where he expired before medical attention could be summoned.

Bojanich had come to the home on Saturday, and complained of not feeling well yesterday, asking that he be taken to the hospital, which is on the third floor.

He was born in Poland, in 1882, and had been a resident of New Castle for 37 years. Prior to his retirement, he had been employed as a heater at the tin mill.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Eva Bojanich, two sons, Joseph and John, and four daughters, Mrs. Rose Sciotto, Mrs. Helen Ross, Mrs. Bessie Tarnocel and Mrs. Viola Molle, and eight grandchildren.

The body has been removed to Noga's funeral home, where friends may call from 7 to 9 p. m. this evening. Funeral services will take place from the funeral home Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

the whole of eastern Slovakia, the London Daily Telegraph reported from Warsaw. German troops, said the account, also are massed along the Vah river. Troop movements have been marked particularly on the Slovak-Hungarian frontier, according to the Telegraph.

Poland's reaffirmed stand against Germany was set forth in the Courier Poranny, which is connected closely with the foreign office, as follows:

"Poland will not give up one inch of land. No enemy shall pass our frontiers.
"Nobody will interfere directly or indirectly with our interests, for Poland stands as one man, strong and united, with full knowledge of the responsibility of its decisions and its duty to honor and to civilization."

Cancellation Of Sailings Noted

Local Steamship Agencies Informed Of Cancellations By Several Lines

SOME MAY RETURN ON OTHER VESSELS

Status of local residents who are abroad is still not definitely known, local steamship agencies report. Both the Peoples Savings & Trust company and the Lawrence Savings & Trust company, which act as agencies for ship lines, report that word has been received of cancellations of sailings on the Cunard and Italian lines.

Ships listed by the Cunard line, which were due to sail during September, are the Scythia, Britannic, Alania, Aurania and Ascania, all of which have been cancelled.

According to Martin Leonhardt, manager of the foreign department of the Peoples bank, definite information is as yet lacking on the westward sailing of the M. V. Saturnia of the Italian line on which John H. Galbreath, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Galbreath of New Wilmington, and Dean Weinberg of this city were to have sailed. An announcement had been received stating that the eastward sailings were cancelled for the Saturnia and the Conte D. Savoia, scheduled to sail eastward on September 8 and 2 respectively, but nothing was said about westward sailings.

Others aboard the Saturnia, scheduled to leave Naples on Sunday, were Frank Lorenzo, father-in-law of Raymond Peluso, assistant manager of foreign department of the Peoples bank, and wife, and Sister Marita Bertha of St. Vitus church. Joseph Prengel and family, of this city, were booked to sail for Italy on the Saturnia on September 8.

Scheduled to sail from England on the S. S. Laconia of the Cunard line, a cancellation of which has not yet been received, are Llewellyn Preston of Neshannock boulevard, and David Lewis of East Lutton street, who have been visiting relatives in Wales. They are booked to arrive here on September 9 and were scheduled to sail August 28.

Otto Mackey and son William, of Harrison street, are probably temporarily stranded in England. They sailed for Helsinki, Finland, on August 19, on the S. S. Britannic, and were to lay over in England awaiting a boat to Finland.

Another probably caught in the turmoil of restricted travel abroad was Emil Kral, who sailed for Trieste, Italy, aboard the Vulcania on August 23. Mr. Kral was formerly a draftsman employed by the Carnegie Steel company, but retired and went back to Germany 10 years ago. He had been back home here on a business mission last summer.

National Roll Call Worker
Leaves After Spending Two Weeks With Chapter Here

The Lawrence County Chapter of the American Red Cross has in the past two weeks, had as its guest Miss Elsie Green, special roll call representative from Washington. The local chapter feels very much indebted to the national office for its cooperation in assisting Norman E. Clark, roll call chairman for this service is given without charge to the local chapter and a great deal has been accomplished in the two weeks Miss Green has been with the chapter.

Miss Green leaves Lawrence county to go to Cincinnati, Ohio, where she will be until after the fall roll call, working on the same problems that have confronted the local chapter. She then returns to the Greater Cleveland Chapter for the fourth consecutive year to work out their program and to continue to build up her fine roll call record.

It is the hope of this chapter to have Miss Green return for an analytical meeting after the first of the year.

Round Discusses Projects For WPA

Heard By Rotarians At Meeting At Noon On Monday

"Responsible citizens and organizations owe it to themselves and to the government to scrutinize WPA projects and to be alert to projects that are socially and economically sound declared Louis B. Round in an address to the Rotary Club on Monday at noon.

Mr. Round detailed the incidents of a recent trip of GNC leaders to Harrisburg in which they consulted with Col. Philip Mathews, head of the WPA in Pennsylvania. "Col. Mathews said at that time," said Mr. Round, "that he would consider it a service if responsible groups and citizens would check WPA projects to see that the money was being expended properly."

Mr. Round suggested that a number of projects could be started here that would be socially and economically sound and that the Rotary Club should interest itself in seeing that only such type of projects should be considered.

Seeks To Locate Old Typewriters

Milwaukee Alderman Has Uncovered 400 Different Models For Birthplace Of Idea

Alderman Carl P. Dietz, of Milwaukee, Wis., was a visitor in New Castle yesterday in the interests of a hobby which he became interested in 1934, and which has led him to various corners of the United States, namely that of collecting old typewriters.

Milwaukee was the birthplace of the typewriter, the idea having been developed by C. Latham Sholes and Carlos Glidden, who developed the idea to the practical point and then sold their invention to the Remington Arms Company, of Ithaca, N. Y., which began the commercial production of the typewriter in 1873.

Alderman Dietz has discovered 400 different types and makes of machines, some of which were the ideas of men working on the typewriter like Sholes and Glidden, but who never patented their ideas. Some had keyboards like pianos. Some were balanced with sash weights, providing the spring tension needed to move the carriage, and other freak ideas.

There are around 40 known types which the Milwaukee museum does not have models of, and which are being sought by Mr. Dietz, whose address is City Hall, Milwaukee.

U. S. Neutrality Act May Be Given 'Liberal' Interpretation

Decision Will Be Requested

May Allow Delivery Of Materials Contracted For Before War, If Any Comes

MANY PLANES ARE BEING MADE HERE

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The possibility of a "liberal" interpretation of the neutrality act to permit belligerent nations to acquire war materials already ordered from American firms was seen today in official quarters.

It is considered possible that the state department will request Attorney General Murphy for a legal opinion on whether the neutrality act automatically invalidates contracts between countries at war and American armaments manufacturers.

The act specifies that no war materials may be exported to any nation declared to be in a state of war by the president.

May Be Exemption

While this provision of the act appears to be conclusive, some administration legal advisors are of the opinion that contracts made prior to such an embargo might be exempted.

Both England and France have placed large aircraft orders with American manufacturers during the past six months. These manufacturers currently are operating day and night to fill these orders and have made investments in materials and labor.

In some instances, it is reported that parts have been shipped to Canada for assembly in the dominion. Nevertheless, American plane manufacturers still have a substantial backlog of foreign orders.

Earlier this year, aviation missions from both France and England came to the United States to inspect various aeronautical equipment available in this country. Shortly afterwards, contracts involving millions of dollars of aircraft were signed by English and French officials.

Neither the justice nor the state department would comment publicly on the legal aspects of the neutrality act as it affected these contracts.

Some Changes Here When School Opens

Two Schools Abandoned—Half Day Sessions At Senior High—School Opens September 6

Two school bells will be silent Wednesday, Sept. 6, when the 1939-40 term of the New Castle public schools opens. Terrace avenue and Aiken schools will see no youngsters stepping over the threshold, for the buildings have been abandoned.

Another innovation will be the two-session schedule of the senior high school. Because of this arrangement the cafeteria will not be used in the senior high school building.

On Tuesday, Sept. 5, the day after Labor Day, all teachers of the system will meet in the auditorium of the senior high school for a general meeting. Superintendent C. C. Green will outline the work of the term, and following the general meeting the principals will meet with their teachers.

Afield And Astream

With Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association
By GEORGE SILLMAN

On Poplar Lake North Bay, Ont. Canada.
Fellow Sportsmen:

You can believe it or not, but I'm writing this article in the boat we do all our fishing from. The reason is, when we get back to camp the flies are just a little bit too tame for me to sit around and shoot them away with a ball bat. A ball bat and pencil do not balance too well. But here goes some more, and we hope you'll like it—Fishing has sure been swell so far and don't think for a minute that we keep all we catch, the law would be on our necks the minute we landed, even though we are 35 miles from North Bay and 10 miles away from our parked car. The law says to take what fish you can consume and leave the rest for next time (a good law I think). We only bring the fish back to camp that are hooked too bad to survive. Tony Rich will have some good fish stories to tell when he gets back and they will be true too (I hope) because Tony has caught some very nice bass and pike. Of course, Bill (Warden) McKee can catch his share any time, he's just naturally good at it—he throws the plugs right in their mouths and can get one most any time on the first catch. Thursday we went into North Bay for more spoons (no not the kind you use at the table), but casting spoons. The granddaddies have all our ones in Davy Jones' locker and believe me they carry side-cutters with them when they go out spoon collecting. We left camp Thursday 11 a. m. and got back at 5:30 a. m. Friday. It is a long story, but I'll try to make it as short and painless as possible. We didn't get back from town soon enough and to travel 10 miles of strange water at night is no picnic without a flash light. We only had 5 flash lights and a gasoline lamp at camp. We managed Tilden Lake, the portage, Bear Lake and when we started in to Poplar River the trouble started. First, we ran into a snag of brush, out of it, into a big stone covered with water. We thought we heard water trickling into the boat with no light we could not tell how bad she was shipping water. We managed to get off the stone and tried to make shore. The river is lined with dead trees on both sides about 10 to 20 ft. deep and it is almost impossible to land in day light let alone in a dark night without lights. After four boxes of matches we found the shore and built a log fire and spent the rest of the night there waiting for good old day light. I have read of this kind of experiences, but never expected to have one like it myself. Ask Tony or Bill the next time you see either of them and they'll tell you just how it feels to spend a night along the wild shores of Canada's woods. Well, we expect to be home by Monday, and so long until next time. We are,

TONY, GEORGE & BILL

McFate-Baer Win Doubles Laurels

Al Jones-Lou Gunton Lose In Exciting Matches Played On Monday

In a match replete with action, Harold Baer-Joe McFate won the 1939 doubles championship of the city by defeating Al Jones-Lou Gunton by scores of 6-2, 13-11, 3-6 and 6-0, Monday afternoon at Clemenore court.

The huge gallery was repaid with one of the fastest exhibitions of tennis seen here in years. Play was fast throughout with numerous smash shots. One of the oddest shots recorded here was registered by Baer. He sliced the pellet. The ball went over the net and rebounded over again near Baer. Phil McClure and Harold Brest served as umpires.

For McFate-Baer, the laurel is not new for they have won the championship for the past several years.

Bessemer And Slovaks Will Play Thursday

First Of Five-Game Series At Cedar Street Field, To Start At 5 O'clock

ANDERSON WILL OPPOSE SNYDER

The baseball championship of Lawrence county will be at stake in the Slovak Club-Bessemer series that will start Thursday night at the Cedar street field at 5 o'clock. It will be the best out of five games. The second game is slated for the Bessemer field Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Thursday night it will be Leroy "Blondie" Anderson, the Slovak ace hurler, against either Snyder or Hardesty. Manager Gonda has a lot of faith in Anderson and hopes that the Slovaks can get the jump by taking the first game. Manager Nord, of Bessemer, thinks that either Snyder or Hardesty can stop the Slovaks.

Plenty Of Pitchers Should Anderson Fall To Come Through Thursday Night

Should Anderson fall to come through Thursday night, it will be Mike "Brown" Costes or Tzee Jankoski rushing to his aid. A great deal of interest has been manifested in this approaching series and no doubt the Cedar street field will be jammed to capacity for the initial game.

Should it rain on Thursday night the two teams have agreed to play the game the following night which would of course be Friday, at the same field.

Sports World Ramblings

Diamond Dust—Jerome "Dizzy" Dean has been drawing down a fancy piece of change for his twirling. Based on a two year salary of $40,000, the loquacious one has been paid at a rate of $154 an inning for his work as a Chicago member . . . The size of a baseball park makes no difference to the New York Yankees. Exclusive of games played over the week end, Murders Row, tapped out 131 homers to date. Of this number, 63 were recorded in Yankee Stadium . . . Roger Hornsby, who got his walking papers at Baltimore and is now whiling away the time in New York, is being mentioned as a possible major league pilot for next season. One of the rumors has him replacing Pie Traynor. Another, Brooklyn, and still another, the Cubs . . . Left handed pitchers are having an unusually off year. With the exception of old Lefty Grove, the remaining lot, including Gomez and Hubbell, has found the road extremely bumpy . . .

Jottings from here and there—Note to Michigan foes: Beware of "Fritz" Crisler's gang. The backs and ends at Michigan are back on masse, not to mention a world of other grade A pigskin material . . . From the West Coast the rumors persist that "Jock" Sutherland will be guiding the destinies of Stanford University, next year . . . The war scare in London may cause "Whizzer" White to leave Oxford and jump into a Pittsburgh Pirate moleskin . . . Per usual, Notre Dame's Irish will continue as the best box office attraction. Last year the Irish performed before more than 500,000 fans. Here it is August and the ticket office at the South Bend school is swarmed with requests for tickets . . .

Joe DiMaggio blasted his 21st and 22nd homers and drove in eight runs, while Charley Keller also homered. It was the Yanks' ninth straight.

Gridders Work Under Hot Sun At Muddy Creek

Two Steaming Hot Sessions On First Day In Camp Has Boys Sweating

SCRIMMAGE WILL START WEDNESDAY

The New Castle high school football team lost little time getting down to the regular camp grind yesterday at Muddy Creek Falls. Thirty-three young huskies, all of them desirous of making the "Red Hurricane" varsity team, dug right in at 9:30 o'clock and were still going strong late in the afternoon.

There will be two stiff sessions each day that the boys are in camp. When the team gets back to town next week and starts to work out at Taggart field the coaches will have a pretty fair idea of the makeup of the first team.

Eleven Positions Open
Right now there are 11 positions open on the team, it was stated by Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh. Not even Lindsay Lauro or Joe Genger can be sure of their spots on the team, and no rookie who shows Bridy enough can fill in for these veterans any time. There is a lot of work to be done.

There are three teams on the practice field, A, B and C. Bridy has charge of the A squad, Gig Thomas the B squad and Bill Klee the C squad. The boys have been given a lot of fancy stepping through tires. The linemen have been busy pushing the dummy stand around. There will be the usual amount of hitting the dummy also, and the usual blocking dummy will also get a good workout.

Faculty Manager Scoots Nelson and his student managers are quite busy attending to the many wants of the boys. Bob Stewart as usual is making himself useful around the camp.

Baron Employees Have Picnic Event

Members of the Baron hardware company firm, employees and friends from New Castle, Sharon, Youngstown and New Brighton, gathered at Neshannock Falls on Sunday for a picnic outing. Charles Frenkel was general chairman in charge of the event.

The main feature of the afternoon was a ball game in which the employees from New Brighton and Sharon played New Castle and Youngstown. New Brighton and Sharon were the winners. Races and other sporting events filled the remaining hours with prizes being awarded the winners.

A picnic meal was served at the close.

Leaders Up 1 To 2 Points In Rally As Market Absorbs Hopeful Peace News

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The stock market rallied 1 to 2 points today, taking a more hopeful view on the European crisis while awaiting Hitler's reply to England's note. A few of the high priced stocks did better than the average, with Du Pont up almost 4 points.

Grains held to their pattern of moving contrary to stocks, wheat dropping 3 cents a bushel in Winnipeg and slightly less at Chicago. Cotton recovered almost all of yesterday's break of more than $1 a bale. Other commodities were steady in generally quiet dealings.

In the stock market Chrysler, Westinghouse and Union Carbide featured with gains of 2 or more points. Close behind were General Motors, Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, American Smelting, U. S. Rubber and Eastman Kodak.

The uptrend was slowed late in the second hour, but the list maintained a strong undertone.
